Jeff

I like the last wrestler that we have at Springfield in my opinion. That is great way to work out with you wrestling. I hope you the wrestling season. Great luck in later like.

Dave Wisler

Jeff,

I am so glad we are friends you have made me laugh so many times. I had fun that night out with you. I hope we continue to be close friends even after we graduate. We have had so much fun knowing you and B.B. I'll never forget you. Im looking for a lot of fun in our last year in school together. Good Luck in whatever you decide to do in your life. Love you always

Though I see things grow, do I really realize the miracle taking place? Though I pollute, does my little bit really ruin our land? Exploring life and our universe and connecting them all together is what science teaches. With the knowledge learned we realize our part in life and just how much we do have to do with the future of our world.

P.E. was no fun.
P.E. wasn't always fun but always was good for us. The P.E. department has a good program and vast variety of activities to select from. Strong minds and bodies are the goals of the P.E. department.

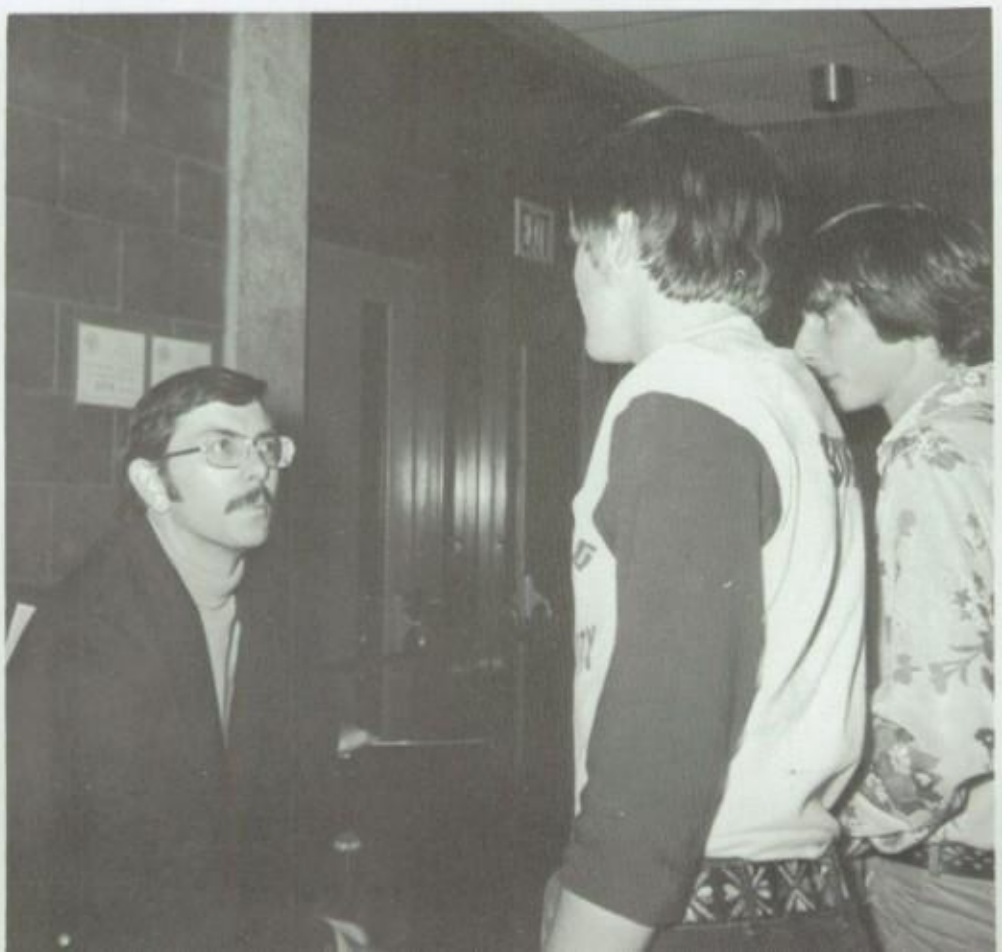
Stage bands won prizes in competitions, choirs recorded commercials for a couple of local businesses, and the school musical was a sensation.



Something for everyone at the library

You go to the library to visit with a friend. If he isn't there maybe you'll check out a book or read a magazine. If you have a girl with you, maybe you go to the quiet area to be alone with her. If there is nothing to do and you want to rip into something you go there too. The library has something for everyone.

At the top is librarian Pauline Acaiturri. Below her is IMC media specialist, Sandy Youngblood. Lower right is library aide Jean Turley.

Industrial and practical arts classes are offered for the students to enable them to use their imaginations and creatively work with different materials. Each student is able to express himself through many different projects. With instruction, students learn to accurately and safely operate different industrial machines. On-the-job training is offered as students learn on the job.

The different aspects of human civilization

Learning the different aspects of human civilization, world history and present world problems is what social studies is all about. From these three main areas, many courses are offered which help students understand the past and how to cope with problems of the future.

Administration and their helpers keep office going

With the administration watching closely over the students, it seems like you can't get away with anything anymore. But that's what it's all about. When you're put in a position to take the responsibility for so many students, the welfare of every student is taken into consideration before any action taken by the administration.

Although they are not always able to be objective, they try their best to please the students as well as the public. The only way for SHS to go is forward with the leadership of our administration.

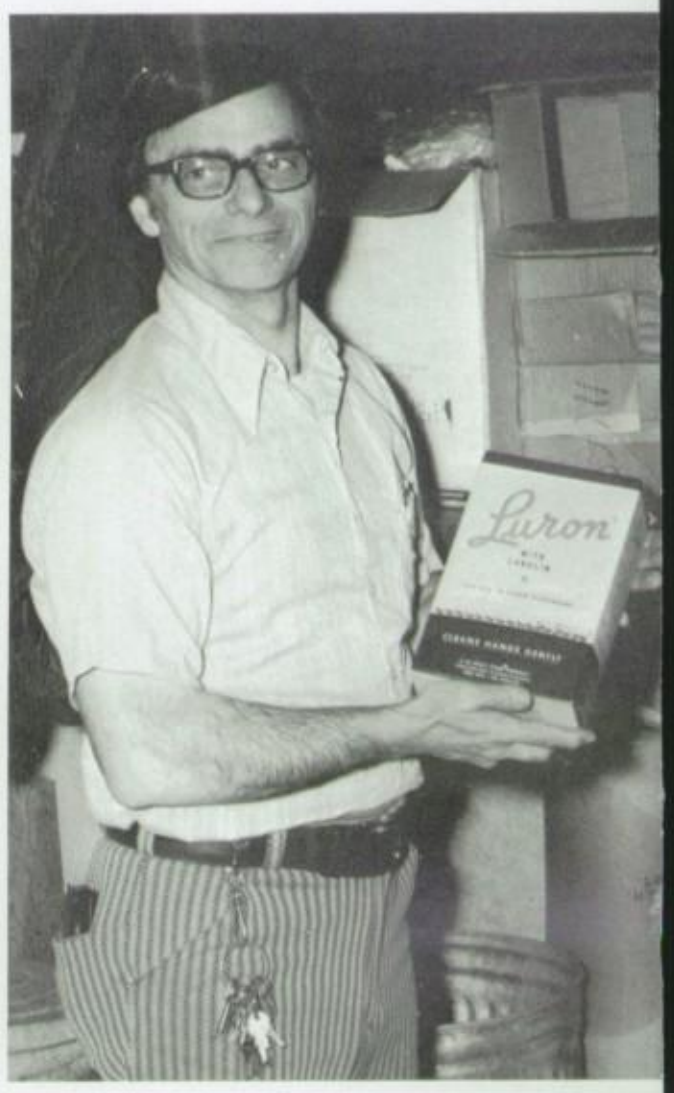
They help us cope with life

They call you in when you are in trouble or when you don't have enough credits to graduate. They are your friend when you have nowhere to turn. They listen and suggest answers and they help us to cope with life.



They are unseen and unheard and no one seems to notice they have been around. But the school is a clean place which seems to with stand the rigors of a thousand active bodies. They arrive as school is out and work until midnight, sweeping, washing windows, painting out the obscenities on the bathroom walls. They keep the building functioning so that there is a minimum of interruption to the classes during the day. A thankless, important job, done by a group of dedicated people.

With lots of recipes and talent, the cooks at SHS always seem to please the student body and staff. Without our cooks around, who would there be to satisfy that empty feeling? We couldn't survive without them.

Active student council leaders spark re-newed interest in student government.

The ASB worked hard to stimulate interest in student government. There were experiments in communication, a new constitution revision much more exchange of information in such meetings as faculty senate and faculty meetings. Students worked hard on committees to help solve school problems. As a result of the energies of the 1974-75 ASB there was an active campaign for offices in the spring. A big turn out contrasted with the previous year's apathy. Shown on this page is Gary Emery, ASB president; Kellee Kneeland, senior class president; Packy Cowan, vice president and Michelle Lytle, publicity officer as they paint signs for an event. Usherettes and Hi-Lites act as hostesses for the school.

Usherettes are the official hostesses of SHS, but they did a lot more than serve punch. They were involved in pizza parties, slumber parties, decorating the school at Christmas. They also helped the mentally retarded as a community project. The final project was the senior breakfast. In the upper photo Usherettes Candy Jessop, Shirlene Walser, Cindy Werder, and Vicki Dull serve at the fall parent's open house. The full group, front row, Doris Alvstad, Vicki Dull, Denise Juza, Cindy Phillips, Cindy Werder, Shirlene Walser, and Carolyn Setera. Back row, Tonie Volta, Robin Kincade, Debbie Chruszch, Renee Wyland, Diann Lawson, Kathy Kaldahl, Marla Woods, Linda Davis.

Like with any group effort, Hi—Lites takes practice. Many mornings have found the girls practicing in the gym at 7:00 a.m. Hi—Lites have their own extra curricular activities such as going to a dance competition, going to a dance clinic, having their own dance competition, marching in the Christmas parade and getting in a few extra performances for senior citizens at Ya-Po-Ah Terrace and providing entertainment for members of the Moose Lodge. The Hi—Lite team consisted of, right front to back, Teri Davis, Lori Goddard, Kari Swiener, Debbie Comer, Karla Smith, Janice McCullough, Diane Dickinson, Bettina Reske. Left front to back, Debi Carlson, Carol Ellingson, Pam Casey, Debbie Gluesen, Linda Blatchley, Toni Volta, Kim Clingan, Renee Wyland.

Winning trophies is a habit for DECA

It seems like winning most of the trophies has become a habit with the SHS DECA clubs. Members compete for trophies in many different areas of retail selling and merchandising. At stake are scholarships and job offers as well as the glory.

Drama Club organized to help up-grade member's acting abilities and interests.

The Drama Club was organized so that students interested in plays could go to plays and share their experiences, put on plays, learn to improve their acting technique and to in general share their interest in drama. A trip to Ashland along with members of the Drama II and Drama Production was one highlight of the year. There were not many meetings during the year but those who were active were looking forward to improving the club and make it more like it was originally organized. The club helped pick the plays which were presented, "She Fainted Again" and "Music Man." Shown here is the club membership. In front John Jewett, Jeanne Dewitz, and Don Lewis. In the middle, Connie Dixon, Candie Smith, Tami Dingle, and Kim Fowler. In back, Julie Bishop, Allen Dukes, and Karen Rose.

The Springfield High School forensics team had a busy year as they competed in seven major tournaments. Most tournaments began on Friday and went through Saturday. Because of the weekend tournaments there was a lot of outside time spent on the activity. Tournaments participated in included the Beaverton Invitational, Churchill Invitational, McMinville Invitat- Linfield College Tourney, District Speech Tourney and State Speech Tourney. There were many successes despite the inexperience of the team. Events competed in included debate, all styles; ADS; Extemporaneous and Impromptu; Serious and humerous interp.; Oratory, Expository speaking; Radio comment; and poetry interpretation. The forensics team front row, Doug Harmon, John Jewett, Steve Eckroth, and Rod Bauer. No matter what you play, no one is going to like it anyway but you keep on playing the music on KSHS.

No matter what you play no one is going to like it. If you play hard rock, the teachers don't like it. If you play John Denver, the rock freaks don't like it. If you play religious, no one likes it. So what are you doing here anyway. You come in and select reocrds for a show and are deluged with requests. You try to make an announcement and four people come in to see if a video tape is ready to run. You see your record running out and before you can cue up another the phone rings. But you keep on. You are a disc jockey on KSHS radio. Maybe it is the break you need to get into the big time. Shown here are most of the jockies at KSHS. Seated is Sherryl Lovely, Lavelle Bond and Tami Dingle. Coming to school early in the morning, practicing, building new uniforms, making up new yells, making signs at noon, giving up resource period for practicing and planning pep assemblies, trying to keep crowd spirit high in the face of defeat. That is what rally is all about. The big obvious job is to promote school support at the ball games. They put a lot of time into it and if the amount of noise at the games was an indication, they more than succeeded. Shown on this page is the JV Rally, Diane Long, Darla Medford, and Lori Quick.

A last minute win and the chess team becomes state champions on their way to New York.

The place: Erb Memorial Union, U of O campus. The time: 11:30 p.m. approximately. The event: the 1975 Oregon High School chess team championship. Only one game was still in progress, the crucial game. It was Don Kelley of Springfield vs Ben Bednarz of South Salem.

After 6½ hours of play, and 98 moves, Bednarz had finally maneuvered into a winning position, but was running short of time. The rules require that each player must compete 100 moves before the time control, or forfeit the game. Kelley wisely made a last minute attempt to mix up the game, which sent Bednarz into a 3 minute huddle.

The tension rose as Bednarz' flag on his clock rose higher and higher and finally fell, giving the game to Kelly and the State Championship to Springfield. The victory capped a fine season and a fantastic bid for the state championship, but in a way it was just.beginning as the national championships lay ahead.

The Millers breezed through the regular season, easily qualifying for the district playoffs. Springfield pulled off extremely close wins against South Eugene and Cottage Grove, whom they had only drawn against during the regular season, to clinch district for the second straight year. The Millers received key points from Steve Hall, who was substituting on fifth board for Eldon Furgason. Then, out of the first three games at State, Springfield again had to play those two teams. This time, they demonstrated a clear superiority over the two teams, trouncing the Grovers 3½–1½ and the Axemen 4–1. The Millers made miraculous comebacks in their next two matches. After trailing Crescent Valley ½–2½, Springfield obtained key points in Tom Cauble and Dale Bradley's wins to draw the match 3½–2½. In the final round, Springfield trailed South Salem by a score of 0–2, when Bradley and Alan Maddux scored clutch wins to set the stage for Kelley. At first, the possibility of competing in the nationals seemed like a dream, but it soon became the goal of the team.

After meeting at Pietros to plot out their strategy, the members along with coaches Wheeler and Vogt, launched a fund raising drive to raise the necessary $2700. Mr. Fenter was a great help in the drive by keeping records of money raised and offering the team the opportunity to sell this section of the yearbook where two thirds of the money was raised. The balance of the money was raised by donations, a bottle drive, and a speed chess marathon.

At first the possibility of competing in the nationals seemed like a dream.

On April 16, the chess team, consisting of Dale Bradley, Don Kelley, Alan Maddux, Tom Cauble, and Eldon Furgason set off for New York, accompanied by coach Wheeler, his wife, and son.

After layovers at Portland, Seattle, and Chicago, the team arrived at New York's LaGuardia Airport early the morning of the 17th. That gave the troops a day to prepare for the tournament. The National High School Chess Tournament, a three day affair, was held at the McAlpin Hotel, right down the street from the Empire State Building. The tournament consisting of eight rounds was run on an individual basis, and the team totals were obtained by adding the top four team scores. There were trophies and or cash prizes for the top five individuals, the top two in classes A, B, C, and D, and the top 15 teams.

The first round began without a hitch. 500 people crowded around the pairing sheets trying to find the names of their opponents. Shortly thereafter, the smoke had cleared, the dust had settled, and the chess clocks had started. (A chessclock is a device used to record the time accumulated by each player.) The time control for the first two rounds was 40 moves in 60 minutes, which is extremely fast. The remaining six rounds were played by 40 moves in 80 minutes, still a rapid pace.

Almost all the Springfield players had routine first round opponents, except Bradley, who was playing the third highest ranked participant, who was rated a master (A master is a person whose rating equals or exceeds 2200; an expert is one whose rating is 2000 or over; and the remaining rating classes are in groups of 200—e.g., class 'A', 1800–1999 Class 'B', 1600–1799, etc.)

About two hours later, the results came pouring in. Maddux had escaped with a draw, after having a bad game for a while. Kelley and Cauble had both pulled out wins and Furgason lost. After achieving a winning position, Bradley also lost, by failing to make the required 40 moves. Overall, the first round was promising, as the top four boards had scored 2½ points out of 4. If the team could maintain that pace, they would have no trouble in capturing a trophy. But, worse things were yet to come.

Round two, scheduled for 9:00 Friday night, was not promising for the Millers. Bradley was the sole winner this time, while Maddux, Cauble and Kelly lost. Thusly, the team total stood at 4½ out of 12, which put Springfield among the lowest in the 42 team field.

In order to have a chance of winning a place in the top fifteen teams, it would be necessary to score at least 13 out of the remaining 20 games. The Millers got back on the right track by winning 3 out of 4 in the next round. At the halfway point, the individual socres were Maddux, 2½–1½; Bradley, 2–2; Kelly, 2–2; Cauble, 1–3; and Furgason, ½–3½; while the team total stood at 7½–8½.

The next round was the best of the tournament for the Millers, as the top four boards swept, 4–0. This put the team in an excellent position to take a team prize. The sixth round was a minor setback for the team as Cauble and Maddux lost, but Bradley and Kelley won to maintain the score at 13½–10½.
The seventh round was probably the most crucial round of the tournament for Springfield. Every team member was playing a higher rated player, especially Bradley and Maddux, who were pitted against experts. Kelley and Cauble both won, due to mistakes on their opponents' part. Maddux escaped from a tight position early in the opening, and had the momentum running in his favor when he agreed to the draw. Bradley obtained a comfortably won position, but again was unable to make the time control.
The last round was rather anticlimactic, as Maddux, Cauble, and Bradley won while Kelley lost. The team score of 19–13 was good enough for 12th place overall (although the trophy reads 8th). The top high school was University High School in California, who scored 24 points, five more than Springfield.
Individual honors went to John Fiedorowicz of New York, who defeated top ranked master Mark Diesen in the last round. The only individual trophy that went to Springfield was the class 'D' trophy, which went to Alan Maddux.
The twelfth place trophy was the highest any Oregon team had taken in a long time, if ever. Two previous state champions, Cottage Grove in 1973 and Corvallis in 1974, took 23rd and 34th respectively.
After the tournament the team had a few days to relax and see the sights. On Monday, the group took an Amtrack down to Wasi.ington, D.C., and remained there until Wednesday morning, when they returned home via Los Angeles and San Francisco.
The team was very fortunate to make the trip, and would like to thank all persons, groups, and companies who helped the team represent Springfield and the state at the national tournament.

Think young!

New forests are vital to our future, so we are planting more than 150 million seedlings annually. Fresh ideas are also important as we seek improved forests through research, try to get more wood fiber from our forests through better harvesting and manufacturing, and strive for new products to serve the nation's needs.

Sports

An early season win over North Eugene at Autzen Stadium found the 1974 Millers rated 12th in the state. Later losses left the Millers off the top twenty and out of contention in 5AAA play. Key injuries hurt the team nearly as bad as they hurt the injured themselves. Individual performances by Mark Morrisette, Keith Jackson, Elroy Harrison, and Guy Carter highlighted the season. Abstract weather conditions didn't help quarterback Ron Bour find Jackson downfield in hail, rain, and Marshfield's "cover up defense" (fog.) To end an otherwise up and down season the Millers took on the Colts of cross town rival Thurston only to lose badly at home.

Getting your guts kicked out hoping it will be appreciated

Football: A lot of hard work put in on extra time, while the rest of us are having fun. Practicing in the rain and cold, doing the same drills over and over to perfection. Finally the time comes when you show your best for the school and friends and parents—all are watching from the stands while you're getting your guts kicked out, hoping it will be appreciated and end in a victory for Springfield High. Not always winning, but everyone knows you've given it your best and that's what really counts. For your good effort and sportsmanship a letter is given. It comes with deep appreciation and pride for being a part of Springfield High.

Two new coaches, Mrs. Weiseth and Mrs. Welch came along to help keep the girls gymnastics team alive in 5AAA competition. Final scores were close all the way down the line in one of the toughest leagues in the state. Many of the girls combine work at school with work at the Eugene Academy of Creative Gymnastics. Because of the duel training the area has become a power in the state.

Wrestling a demanding one-to-one contact sport.

Wrestling is a demanding one-to-one high pitched emotionally, contact sport. One in which you have to learn to win and lose as an individual, and those same things—winning and losing and doing the best job you can, carry over to school and your job and your life. Wrestling is a healthy, fun and productive sport. Unlike the T.V. connotation. It requires considerably more brainpower than most people think and is open to competition of any size. No one has to be left out of contact sports, because of size with wrestling on the schedule.

Support for the girls basketball team was fantastic this year

"The support from the faculty and students has been great! We've had our biggest crowds this year. The Boosters have been very supportive. Girls' basketball seems to have great spectator appeal." So said coach Jeanette Sullivan as she and the team got ready for the state tournament in Portland for the second year in a row. In Portland they lost two of the three games. Season record was twelve wins and two losses with no losses in league play. At the state tourney, the Miller girls lost to Parkrose with 48–38. High scorer was Linda Warthen with 14 points. In the second game the girls came back to beat Redmond 50–24. Warthen was again high scorer with 18 points. In the final consolation SHS lost to Grants Pass 46–40. Some of the individual standouts this year were Linda Warthen, Cindy Corkum, Janel Huser, Rae Reed, Angie Hill, and Candi Jackson. Linda was the playmaker of the team averaging 8.8 points per game while dishing out 7.1 assists. Leading scorer was Cindy Corkum averaging 13.8 points and six assists per game. Janel Huser, averaged 11.4 points, 9.6 rebounds and 5 assists per game. She was named as the "prep-of-the-week" in the Eugene Register Guard, the first girl to gain that honor.

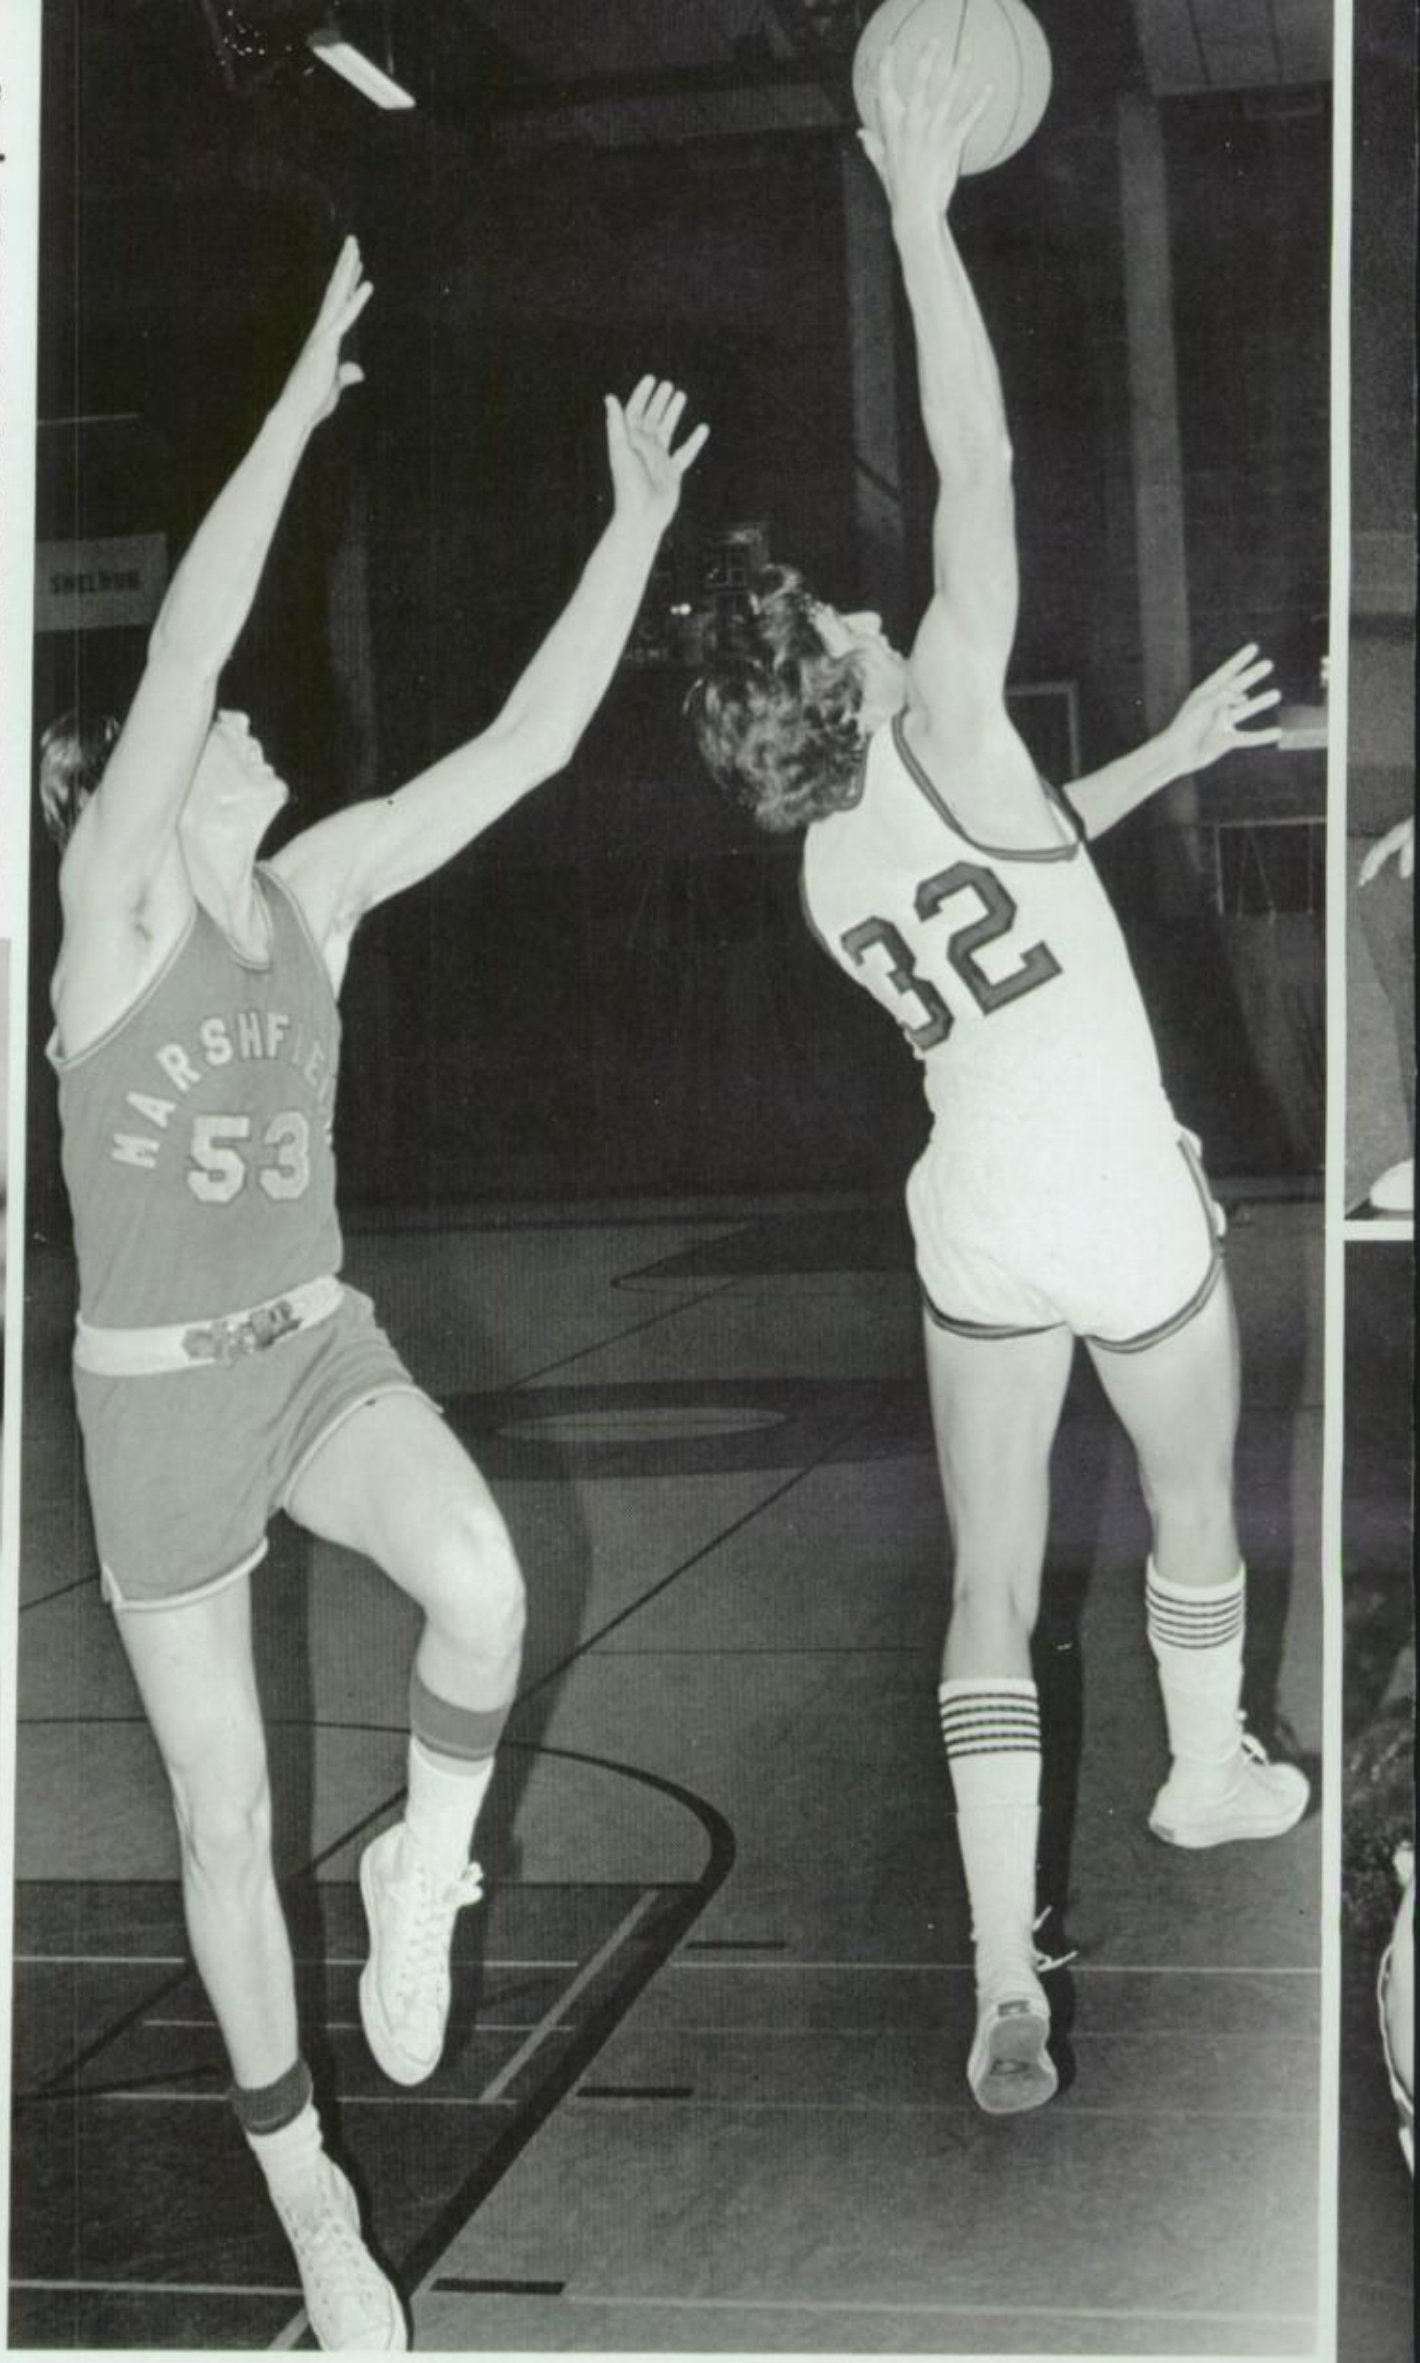
You have to start at the bottom to get to the top.

J. C. Johnson retired and left a basketball program that needed a lot of rejuvinating and in walked Gary Morton. Although Morton left a winning program in Reedsport and had a state championship team in Portland, he made no promises of instant success and when things went badly people blamed him. They blamed him for his coaching on the court and his coaching off the court, for the player's attitudes and actions. Seniors played a big part in the Miller success, that help coming from players such as Mark Dmochowsky, Chris Carlson, Rob Whitbeck and Jim Rodriguez. Controversy plagued the '75 Miller program as the community lost faith as did many of the student body. Yet the season showed more wins than any in recent memory. This despite the loss of three seniors who either quit or were dropped because of attitude. Gary Morton is changing basketball at SHS and it is hoped that those who lost faith in 75 will regain it in '76. One must start at the bottom to make it to the top.



Above, coach Morton and Mark Dmochowsky help the team from the bench. Center, Chris Carlson uses his heighth to snatch the ball from his Marshfield opponent. Lower right Morton and the team show nervous interest in the team's effort. Lower left, Rob Whitbeck and Bill Lewellen show Miller defense. Above, facing page, the Miller Varsity. We get a winning team and the school won't sanction it.

This year there was a team which had no school support and no school sanction. The SOCCOR team was organized as part of the Eugene Park and Recreation District program. Participants had to raise their own $50.00 to join the league. They were a successful team and the only truly co-ed teams in the school. Some of the participants were ex-Millers or just friends. The team row one, Randy Weir, Gary Peake, Dusty Mascot, Dan Jones, Tom Supnet, Mike Rodriguez. Center row, Jim Weir, Pat Smith, Cindy Heistand, Guy Ivy, Jan Noble, Londa Ford, Mike Crabtree, Guy Stockie. Back row, Darrel Chapman, Richard Horstman, Coach Dean, Al Higgins, Dan Johnson, Dan Hise, Monty Smeed, Mark Morrisette, and coach Reuben. To the right is Albert Kok and Greg Woodworth who couldn't be there when the team picture was taken. Below, ample evidence that the girls can compete on the same level with the boys.

We don't really know much about you but we do think you are a neat bunch

It is kind of tough to compete in a sport where no one but the competitors and their folks care what is happening. You get up and down to the pool for practice before school and down again after school. The water makes you red eyed and the practice is always the same. Mostly you compete for Willamalane. That competition goes on year around with Willamalane coach. Then it switches over to a school sport in the fall. Competition is tough and school interest is low. No one wants to coach it. Actually the Willamalane coach is the one who does the majority of the coaching and he isn't around the school to see that there is publicity on the sport. Even the downtown media don't recognize the sport or report on it. When it comes time for pictures, the camera fogs up and there aren't any of those either. A team shot is made and the print of it disappears. Finally a color picture is produced and it makes it to the yearbook. Unfortunately, the coach lost all the statistics and scores so no one will know whether you had a winning season but you. Shown in the 1975 Miller Swim Team are, front row, Dan Hempy, Megan Riddle, John Ruttencutter, Ann McCalley, Center row, Debbie Hanna, Debbie Hempy, Tammy Lloyd, Tonya McCoy, Pam Lloyd, Marcie Hanna, Sue Storie. Back row, Sam Nixon, Fred Glock, Gerald Sanders, Larry Moffitt, Randy Sanders, Bob Hadden, and Randy Smith.

Improvement was the name of the game this year for the Miller Golfers. The team went from a high of 470 to a low of 423, down 37 strokes. Sr. Jim Rodriguez, juniors Steve Creps, and Packy Cowan were the most consistant over the year, all averaging just over 87 per round.

Rick Mower really improved from the beginning of the year as did Mike Shields and Dan Richards. Returning in the spring will be Steve Creps, Packy Cowan, Dan Richards, Ted Werth, and Mark Beals.

Averages for the year:

Jim Rodriguez	87.25
Packy Cowan	87.25
Steve Creps	87.85
Rick Mower	90.71
Mike Shields	95.25
Dan Richards	96.00

Individual performances highlight track season.

Great individual performances highlighted an even greater track season for the 1975 Millers. Seniors Gary McClellen, Mark Cunningham, Keith Jackson and Doug Lewellen scored nearly at ease for Springfield, as did Tom Line, Russ Lamb, Curtis Bean, Paul Brick, Kelly Umenhoffer, and others. Top marks in 5AAA competition came from such Millers as Line, McClellen, Lewellen, and Cunningham. A new all-weather track is in store for future SHS teams as it is to be built in the summer of 1975.

This year the seniors challenged the faculty to a football game. The entire school turned out to see nine valiant senior boys take on 15 faculty men and one faculty woman. The game would have ended a tie except in the final seconds Mr. DeBorde ran for the game's only touchdown. The game saw no permanent injuries although the cardiac squad was standing by just in case.

Coach Harris tries to ignore various suggestions from players Stewart and Trautwein. Center the teacher cheering squad otherwise known as the "Over The Hill Gang", "Summer of '42 Kids", or "American Grafetti Revisited", Connie Kempf, Jill Harvey, Trudy Peterson, Lou Welch, Bobbie Newman and the head cheerleader Laurita Freer. Seventy talented performers bring big musical production to the SHS stage.

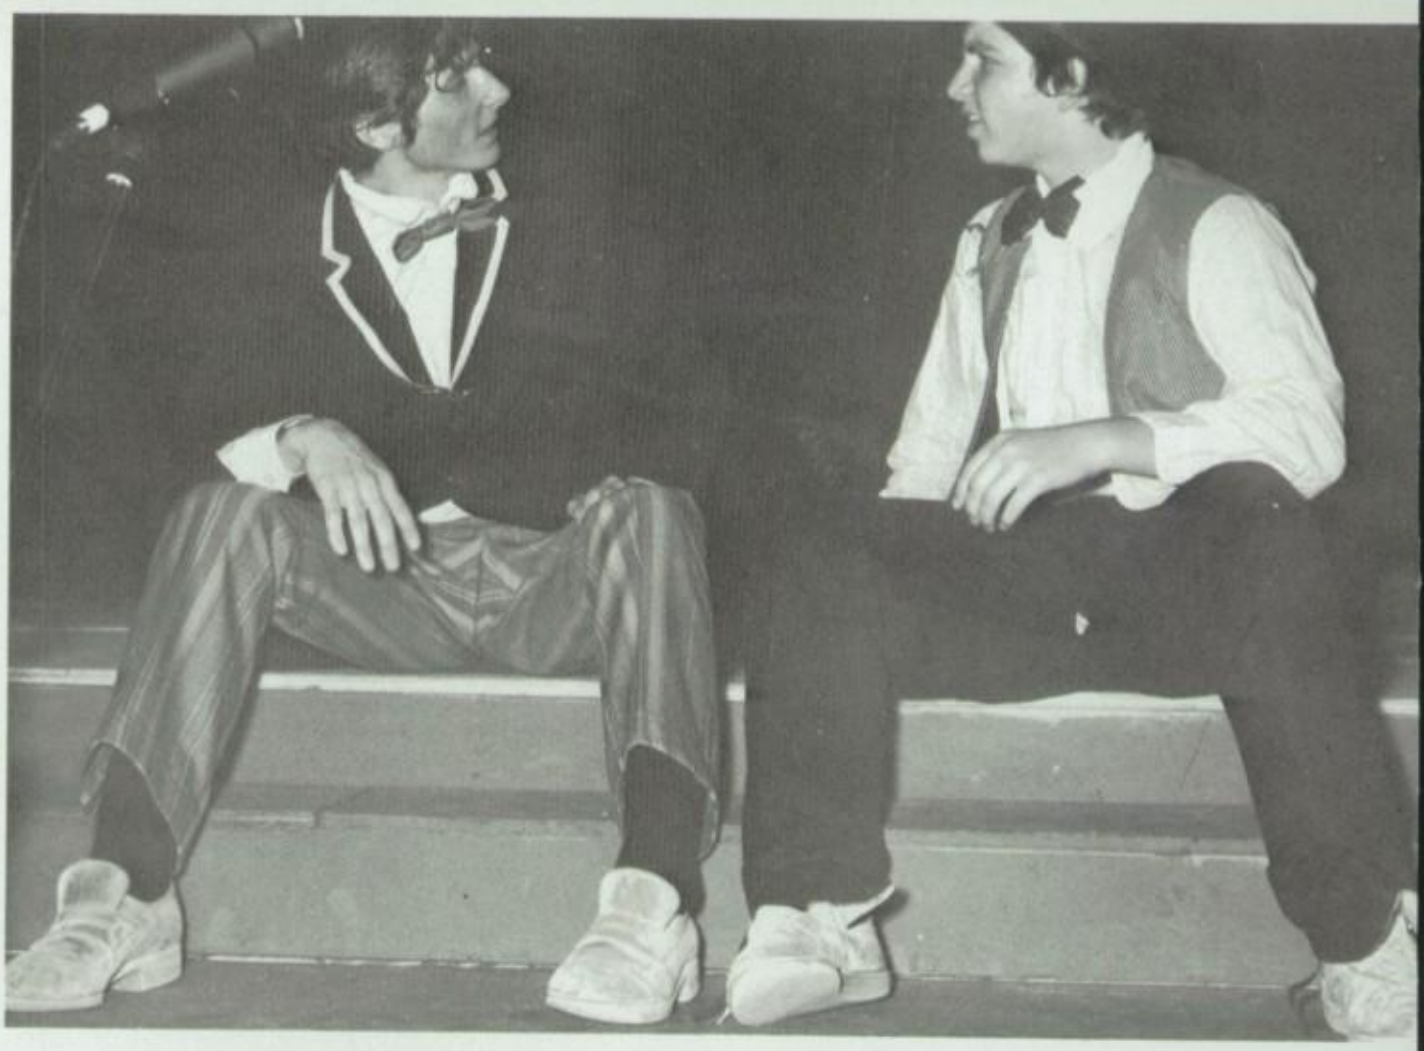
"Music Man" begins many months ahead of production.



The "Music Man", a musical production to please all ages. But the story of "Music Man" isn't all on stage. It begins while the 1974-75 musical, "Charlie Brown" is still ringing in everyone's ears. Directors Rick Milasich, Grant Elkington, and Rob Tucker begin throwing names of popular musicals into the ring. "Bye Bye Birde", "My Fair Lady", "Man of LaMancha", and so forth are mentioned often. Nothing is decided but the most frequently mentioned seems to be "The Music Man". Who can play the part of Hill? Does anyone have the right voice for Marion? How much will royalties be? Can we make the costumes? In the fall everyone is treated to "Seventy Six Trombones" at the halftime of a football game and the announcer declares it is from the musical which will be presented in the spring. "That commits us" Milasich mutters. By the end of the first semester, the playbooks are here and plans for the set and all the arrangements are made. Tryouts are held and announced, students involved sign up for the play production class and things begin to take shape as Elkington works with the musicians, Tucker works with the vocalists and Milasich begins the blocking and working with the actors.

Thirteen weeks later, there is a private showing for the merchants who advertised, people who helped and dignitaries about town. The response is overwhelming. Some people even say they think the positive effect of the play helped pass the budget on the first time. As an offshoot of the production and the cooperation between the three directors, the music, drama, and art classes were re-aligned to form the department of fine and performing arts with Gene Slayter as department chairman.

After thirteen weeks of rehearsal, "Music Man" brings overwhelming response.

"Kidsnatching" plot of fall play, "She Fainted Again"

On November 14, 15, and 16th, the SHS Drama department presented "She Fainted Again", a three act comedy farce by Donald Payton. Set in the late 40's, the show centers on the futile attempts of a middle child to get the attention she believes she deserves. Betty Lou Maxwell, the unfortunate girl and her best friend Bernadine Smith stage a fake kidnapping as her parents, her grandma, Mrs. Brown Aunt Mary, her baby brother Wilber, his friend Hercules Nielson, her sister Connie, and her father's boss get more worried by the minute. Elmer and Muggsy a couple of thugs come looking for the ransom cash that comes with a kidnapping. They don't find it but they find Betty Lou gloating over her trick, so they "kidsnatch" her. Then Muggsy is mistaken for the Sherrif and he and Elmer trade Betty Lou for Wilber. The results are hilarious and chaotic. Shown on this page are Elmer, Gary Emery; and Muggsy, Earl Ruttencutter; sneaking into the house for the "kidsnatching". Above, Betty Lou "faints again." In the lower photo, Ernie Witt is confronted with Deana Fuller fainting as Kathy Ramsey looks on.

The class of 1975

A song writer once wrote, "give me love, give me life, give me peace on earth..." These few words can best describe most of the views of Robbie Sutton. Robbie was a happy, easy going young man with a unique zest for life, to live every day to the fullest, which didn't include classes on a given day. Robbie attended church often at Northwood Christian Church. His mother said, "In the last two months of his life, he really learned how to love. More than most people learn in a lifetime, he had learned at age 16.
Rob would have graduated this year with the class of '75. His interests didn't lie within the boundries of the classroom, but instead within people. Robbie valued friendships highly.
Robbie's grandmother recalled the last words he said as he left the house on that fatal night, "Grandma, I love Jesus."
There's a well on the hill,
just can't kill for Jesus.
I don't build no heathen temples where the Lord has done laid his hand,
there's a well on the hill,
let it be."

In

Darvel loved life and made the most of each moment.
Mothers think sons should wash behind their ears, wear a jacket when they go outside, keep their rooms clean. Sons don't always think these things as important.
Darvel's and his mother's adjustment represented by two signs... Inside the room—
"Bless this mess." Outside the room—"This Place Condemned."
Young and old liked him.
When young, he made friends easily with adults.
He was unselfish and because of his unselfishness, people responded to him
and liked him.

I am not in this world to live up to your expectations and you are not in this world to live up to mine.
You are you and I am I,
and if by chance we find each other
it's beautiful.
